

The Fuck Cancer CareLine (CareLine) is a program of Fuck Cancer and is administered by the Patient Advocate Foundation (PAF). The CareLine provides one-on-one assistance with resolving a broad variety of patient and caregiver concerns including: (1) access to care (e.g., assistance in obtaining prior authorization approvals, second opinions, insurance appeals, insurance plan review); (2) cost of care (e.g., co-pay assistance, premium assistance); (3) cost of living expenses (e.g., rent, utility, transportation, food/nutrition assistance programs); (4) safety net program support (e.g. SSDI, LIS, Extra Help enrollment assistance), and (5) employment-related issues (e.g., FMLA, short-term and long-term disability). The CareLine identifies sources of assistance, including other charitable organizations and government-sponsored programs, and assists patients and caregivers in enrolling in these services as appropriate.

In order to qualify for case management assistance, the patient related to the application must have a cancer diagnosis and must be receiving active treatment for the disease, must have received treatment for the disease within the last six (6) months, or must begin treatment for the disease in the next 60 days. Fuck Cancer and PAF will not consider the identity of any physician, provider, supplier of items or services, donor, drug therapy, services or supplies being utilized, or the referral source when assessing whether an applicant is qualified for assistance through the CareLine. Further, assistance through the CareLine is not dependent on the use of a particular drug, particular supplies, or particular provider or suppliers and patients are free to switch drug therapies, treating physicians, pharmacies, and suppliers at any time without affecting their continued eligibility for assistance from the CareLine.

Qualifying patients are provided one-on-one assistance through the CareLine until their access to care, cost of care, cost of living, or employment-related issues are resolved. Assistance is provided to the extent the Fuck Cancer CareLine has capacity to provide assistance with no preference being given to any one referral source.

Fuck Cancer does not guarantee that the CareLine will meet your requirements, or that it is effective, error-free, without interruption, or available at all times. Further, Fuck Cancer does not endorse and makes no warranty regarding the accuracy or reliability of any opinion, information, advice, or statement provided through the CareLine. Under no circumstances will Fuck Cancer be liable for any loss or damage caused by your reliance on information obtained through the CareLine. It is your responsibility to evaluate the accuracy, completeness, or usefulness of any information, opinion, advice, or other content available through the CareLine. Please seek the advice of professionals, as appropriate, regarding the evaluation of any specific information, opinion, advice, or other content gained through the CareLine.

To the fullest extent permitted under law and save for the rights granted to consumers under applicable laws, Fuck Cancer will have no obligation or liability (whether arising in contract, warranty, tort, including negligence, product liability, or otherwise) for any damages or liabilities, including direct, incidental, indirect, special, or consequential (including any loss of data, revenue or profit, or damages arising from personal injury/wrongful death) arising with respect to your use of the CareLine, even if Fuck Cancer has been advised of the possibility of such damages.
